

COL. BRINTON SHIES HIS HAT INTO THE RING

DIXON PLOW MANUFACTURER GIVES TELEGRAPH HIS PLATFORM.

WILL OPPOSE GOV. DUNNE

Petitions for Col. Brinton Are In Circulation Today—Makes Straight-forward Statement.

Col. Wm. B. Brinton, of Dixon, today makes his formal announcement that he is a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor, subject to the will of the voters of the democratic party of the state of Illinois at the primary September 13th, 1916.

In announcing his candidacy Col. Brinton made a brief statement of his platform, which is appended hereto, and his platform is concise, easy to understand and admits of no doubt as to his position on the big issues of the day.

Col. Brinton's announcement is made through the Dixon Evening Telegraph and the Peoria Journal, both papers publishing his statement this evening. In presenting his candidacy, the Lee county gubernatorial candidate offers the following communication:

Brinton's Platform.

"In presenting my candidacy for Governor of Illinois to the Democracy of the State, I am not unmindful of the distinguished honor involved in such a proceeding or the responsibilities which follow a successful campaign.

"I have in mind from a political standpoint, not only the success of the State ticket to be nominated, but the success of the national, congressional, legislative and county tickets throughout the state.

"In presenting my merits to the electorate of Illinois, I do so as a business man, thoroughly acquainted with business ideas and conditions—as one familiar with the farming communities throughout the State with which I am in daily contact.

"I recognize the changed conditions in governmental activities and approve and will favor such measures as will improve wage earning and living conditions of those who in factory, mine, shop and office, bear the heavy burdens of life.

"I will advocate and insist upon an honest and economical administration of State affairs. I will favor for the city of Chicago the largest and fullest measure of local self-government, consistent with the law. I am not a candidate of any faction or division of Democracy and desire to submit my candidacy to all the Democratic voters of Illinois, and if nominated and elected Governor, will at all times be accessible to the citizenship of Illinois.

"I approve of the reorganization of the State governmental machinery along the lines recommended by the efficiency and economy commission.

"I would favor the budget system for appropriations.

"I stand squarely on the achievements of President Wilson, who has given us more genuine, progressive, sane legislation, in the last four years than has been enacted in a quarter of a century."

Petitions in Circulation.

Petitions were sent out to the democratic committeemen in the 102 counties in the state of Illinois, asking the placing of Col. Brinton's name on the ticket in the primary. These will be filled and returned, to be filed, Col. Brinton has until August 4th to get his petitions filed at Springfield.

Headquarters in Peoria.

Col. Brinton will open active headquarters in Peoria. He intends to make an active campaign and will visit as many counties in the state as possible before the primaries. When asked if he intended to tour the state in an automobile as many candidates are doing, the Colonel, with his usual vigor said: "No, sir. I'm going to 'make' this state in the same good old way that I used to when I was on the road selling plows. I'll take a handful of railroad time-tables and start out and make the county seats of as many counties as possible."

Cleveland, July 25.—Twenty-five are dead and half a dozen are dying as the result of an explosion in a gas and waterworks tunnel five miles from shore and fifty feet underneath Lake Erie last night.

The dead include 11 men who were trapped and the members of two rescue parties, of whom eight were saved. The third rescue party entered the tunnel this morning and brought Supt. Van Duzen of the waterworks construction crew, who headed the second rescue force. He may die.

The fate of the first and second rescue forces was due to the fact that they worked without oxygen helmets, which were unavailable. No pulmonary could be secured, either. Nearly 11 hours elapsed following the explosion before sufficient equipment to fit out a third rescue party could be secured.

CAMPERS ARRIVING FOR BIG ASSEMBLY

BEAUTIFUL PARK WILL SOON BE SCENE OF MANY OUTING PARTIES.

READY FOR GRAND OPENING

Grounds and Buildings Will Be In the Best of Condition By Saturday.

Arrangements will soon be complete for the opening of the 29th annual session of Rock River Assembly. The park is being put in excellent condition. The roads and streets leading to the park are in fine shape.

Director C. W. Linderman, chairman of leases, privileges and transportation, is about the busiest man in the park. He has a gang of men at work getting the park in condition, putting up tents and seeing that nothing is left undone for the grand opening next Saturday noon.

Decorators are at work making the auditorium look like a real entertainment palace. Sawdust has been put in the aisles, and the stage is being trimmed with flags and bunting. On the opening day there will be plenty of shrubs, palms and flowers on the stage. The grass in the park has been cut and the entire place raked. All brush and dead wood has been taken away and today Assembly park is one of the most desirable camping places on the banks of the beautiful Rock river.

Bathing Beach Popular.

Hundreds are attracted to the bathing beach each afternoon and evening and it has done the best business this summer. It has done for a long time. The weather has been just right and the people have taken advantage of the beach for enjoying the water.

Charles E. Sleasman, keeper of the park, has done everything possible to place the grounds in first class condition. It is his ambition to keep the park beautiful and attractive. He is courteous and obliging and is giving his entire attention to the campers, thus assuring them all the comforts possible.

New Water System.

The directors have installed a sanitary water system. The old barrel has been replaced by bubbling fountains scattered about the park.

The lighting system has been improved and many more electric lights have been installed. The hotel accommodations will be greatly improved this year. Meals will be served cafeteria style, as last year. Mr. Thomas Young will be in charge of the hotel and will see that all are taken care of.

The tennis courts have been improved and put in first class condition.

Several campers have already arrived and are in camp for the entire session. Before Saturday morning there will be more than 100 campers in the park. Nearly all the tents are up and ready for occupancy.

HIKERS' CAMP WORD WAS 'I'M SO GLAD'

HAPPY OUTING ENDED WITH EVERYONE ANXIOUS FOR LONGER STAY.

BIG CAMP PLANNED FOR 1917

The boys of the Hikers' camp are very grateful to all those who helped in any way to make the camp a sweeping success. It seems that everybody wanted to help the boys along, from the time J. P. Kennedy, the drayman put the first bundle on the wagon to the last day when Mrs. Guy Miller brought an angel food cake to the tent. While each boy paid his proper share yet the parents, friends and merchants made generous contributions. Special acknowledgement should be given to one, not previously mentioned, Chiverton Brothers. The boys were especially grateful to the Telegraph for Camp Notes. Ten copies were eagerly sought every evening. Mr. Patterson proved a clever and efficient manager and only received his carfare for his services. Ira Lewis demonstrated his ability not only as a good cook but as a useful worker with the boys.

The third camp man, Mr. Stoddard, had his delight in seeing the boys happy and at play. No accidents occurred, except a scratch on the toe.

The boys frequently heard him say "I'm so glad," and they took up the saying, "I'm so glad," and almost every hour during his day one could hear "I'm so glad." If the boys had a glad time, and there's no doubt about it, Mr. Stoddard enjoyed camp life, too.

The boys were sorry to leave camp and begged to stay another week, offering to pay another fee. But Mr. Stoddard said: "While a short camp is desirable, yet it is not the real life after all. Even boys should not spend too much time camping" when they should be engaged in some worthy work. Next year the camp will be under Scout supervision and you boys can look forward to an outing even better, if possible, than this year."

GREAT BRITAIN HAS INTERNAL TROUBLES

WRANGLING OVER HOME RULE HARASSES GOVERNMENT IN CRISIS.

GERMANS PUSHED BACKWARD

(Associated Press)

London, July 25.—At one of the most critical stages of the war Great Britain again finds itself distracted by wranglings over Home Rule, with apparently no light ahead.

Nationalists who supported the government's war and domestic policies, threaten to shift and become an opposition party.

Take Village.

London today officially announces the British had captured a greater part of the village of Pozieres and that although the Germans brought up reinforcements their counter attacks were repulsed.

French Take Block House.

Paris announced today that the French had captured a block of houses south of Estrees, and had driven the Germans out of the trenches north of Verduno Villers.

Italians Progress.

From Rome comes a report that the Italians have captured Monte Cimone.

London, July 25.—A Russian advance of twelve miles against the forces of General von Hindenburg on the Riga front, announced in an unofficial but authoritative dispatch from Petrograd, marks the greatest gains for the Czar's troops in this sector since their retreat on this line was checked by the closing in of winter.

Following up the breaking of the German front on a five-mile sector, which was officially announced Sunday, the Russians forced ahead with infantry, artillery and cavalry. The gain of twelve miles imperils von Hindenburg's positions in the entire Riga district. According to Petrograd the advance is now being made on a front of thirty miles from Riga to Uxkull.

Advance on Lipa.

Far to the south, where the most desperate action on the Russian campaign has taken place in the last month, Petrograd officially announces the capture of the village of Galitchanie, near Kolmoff on the Lipa river. This advance is on the border of Galicia and Volhynia and is in line with the Russian drive toward Lemberg, Kovel and Vladimir Volynski.

Line Holding, Says Vienna.

Following its admission of retreat to the main ridges of the Carpathians Sunday, the Vienna war office claims its lines are holding.

Violent German counter attacks northeast of Rovel have been repulsed. Monday a violent artillery duel was in progress between the forces of Generals Kuropatkin and Von Hindenburg along the northeasternmost point of the battle front.

So far the censors have velle the exact details of General Kuropatkin's recent coup, but the fact that the

Start Work Today; Make Haymarket A Beautiful Park

Work Is Being Done Under Direction of Chicago Landscape Expert

Men from the office of J. C. Simmonds, the Chicago landscape architect started to work this morning on Haymarket Square to follow out the directions of Mr. Simmonds, who has drawn for the Dixon Park board a plan of improvements for Market Square which will turn that spot of city property into a beautiful little park. The details of the plans for the park in Market Square were polished some time ago in the Evening Telegraph. They include a driveway across the park, a general grading of the ground until all the east side of the square is higher and a gentle slope down toward the west side. A band stand is proposed, located near the oak trees at the west side of the park. The ground will slope up from the band stand in a sort of amphitheatre plan. Shrubbery will be planted and a concrete platform will be built to comply with the terms of the deed of the land to the city which provides that the park must always be accessible as a public market place for the sale of loads of hay, etc., brought in from the country. The concrete platform will be made the proper size and arranged so that it will make an ideal tennis court. A force of men and teams is at work under the direction of the Chicago men laying out the park, grading, etc. The new park will be one of the beauty spots of the city.

A deal has been consummated in which the management of the Dixon Inn passes to the management of Landlord Taylor, for six years head of the American House in Princeton. Mr. Taylor, who is here with his family, assumes possession of the hotel at once, succeeding B. E. Shutt, who has not announced his plans for the future.

To Improve Property.

Mr. Taylor's succession to the management of the hotel brings him into a partnership with W. A. Schuler, owner of the building. CONTROL OF BAGWORM

Arsenical Sprays and Hand Picking Will Reduce Damage to Evergreens and Other Ornamental Trees

The use of arsenical sprays and the removal of the bags or cases by hand picking are recommended by specialists in the department as means of controlling the bagworm, a caterpillar which frequently does much harm to shade trees, shrubs, hedges, and in particular to evergreens. This insect has a curious habit of constructing for itself a bag like case in which it crawls about on the infested trees. These cases are conspicuous objects on trees from which the leaves have fallen, and it is, therefore, comparatively easy to remove them by hand from deciduous trees in winter time.

They are much less easily detected, however, on evergreens, for the protection of which arsenical sprays are, therefore, often used. A spray made of one pound of the prepared paste of arsenate of lead and from 25 to 50 gallons of water will be found effective if properly applied. The strength of this mixture may be increased to 2 or 3 pounds of arsenate of lead for 50 gallons of water in the case of a great number of trees, but the use of a mixture as strong as 10 pounds of arsenate in 50 gallons of water is unnecessarily expensive and may injure some forms of tender foliage.

The amount of damage that the bagworm does varies greatly at different times, serious complaints having been received in recent years from New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Oklahoma and Kansas. The pest is not frequent north of southern New York and the central portions of Ohio and Pennsylvania. Its greatest damage is probably done to trees and shrubs along the streets in the parks and private grounds in cities and towns. It is a general feeder, but displays particular fondness for evergreens, especially for arbutus.

In the late spring the young hatch from the eggs which the female has laid in the bag and crawl out upon the twigs and immediately begin to construct bags for themselves. Bags are made partly of silk and partly of bits of leaf and twig. The young insect cuts off with its jaws a small fragment of leaf which it places between its front legs and as the pile gradually grows, fastens it loosely together with silk. Ultimately the caterpillar succeeds in getting this material around its neck like a sort of yoke, which is added to until it is a complete collar. Bit by bit this collar is built up until it becomes a completed case large enough to conceal entirely the caterpillar within it. It is within this retreat that the caterpillar enters the stage of pupation, and it is here too, that the female moth lays her eggs.

The Apple Red Bug

An insect which has done an enormous amount of damage in apple orchards in many parts of the east for the past two or three seasons is the Apple Red Bug. This insect is not often seen but the results of its work are all too apparent at picking time when the fruit is found to be more or less deformed so that it will not pass for "A" grade.

This deformity is caused by punctures which the insect makes in the young apples in order to suck out the juice. The tissue does not develop normally around these punctures and a slight depression is left in the fruit. A small greenish core may also be seen when cutting across one of these depressions of which there may be as many as 100 in a single apple.

The remedy is to spray with some contact insecticide when the insects are present and before they begin to work on the young fruit. Experiment stations agree the "Black Leaf 40," a tobacco extract, is effective in controlling this insect. It may be used with water at the rate of one part to one thousand or it may be used in connection with lime sulphur and arsenate of lead at the same rate.

THEY DOUBLE UP TO GET GREEN MILLIONS

Heirs of Different Degrees Marry to Increase Shares.

Jerseyville, Ill., July 25.—H. A. Merrill, father of Russell and Kenneth Merrill of Jerseyville, is the latest on the long list of descendants of Gideon Howland of Dartmouth, Mass., who will receive a portion of the Herty Green fund, according to reports. His mother was a relative of the "Little old lady in cap and bonnet."

Merrill used to tell his Jerseyville friends he would receive a large sum as soon as Herty Green died, but they thought he was joking. In the list of heirs to the $1,500,000 fund appears the name of H. A. Merrill as one of the original fifty-four direct descendants of Howland.

Merrill for many years was a shoemaker at the Scheffer shoe store. While employed there, he met Miss Addie Norris and married her in 1884. She died in 1892.

The executors of the trust fund, with each new addition to the long list of heirs, experience cold chills at the thought of the tremendous amount of ancestral knots they will have to untie. In many cases heirs have married and will receive double portions of the estate.

SAYS WILLIAMS GOT OUT FORGED LETTER

Sensational Testimony in Indiana Graft Case.

Muncie, Ind., July 25.—Roy Hathaway, alleged graft collector for the administration crowd, sprang a sensation in the trial of Mayor Rollin H. Bunch, charged with conspiracy to solicit bribes, when he admitted that the now famous "Civic League" letter which was received by prospective jurors in the trial of Gene Williams, was written in Hathaway's office by Miss Marie Curdy, his stenographer, and that Gene Williams had employed Miss Curdy for that purpose.

Williams was convicted under the same indictment under which Mayor Bunch now is on trial. Members of the jury panel drawn for the Williams trial received letters on supposed letterheads of the Civic League, urging them to vote for the conviction of Williams if they obtained a place on the jury. The letter was branded as a forgery by the Civic League, and in a subsequent investigation the case was taken before the grand jury.

Hathaway gave this testimony when he was being cross-examined by the state after appearing as a witness for the defense.

TO CAUCUS ON CHILD LABOR

President Wilson Leaves Matter with Democratic Senate Members.

Washington, July 25.—Child labor legislation which President Wilson desires enacted at this session of the congress was discussed by him with Senator Simmons, Senator Hoke Smith and other members of the congress. His callers left with the impression that while the president was anxious to have the bill passed, he would leave the decision to the senate Democratic caucus which meets later this week to discuss the legislative program.

Senator Simmons, who opposes the bill, said he did not expect a filibuster if the measure were taken up, but that undoubtedly there would be full discussion which would delay the adjournment of the congress. Senator Smith said he was studying the constitutionality of the legislation but had not decided whether he would vote for it.

LEAF BLISTER MITE

Minute Animal Which Attacks the Fol-
lage of Pear and Apple

Red or green blister like spots appearing in the early spring on the foliage of the apple and pear are usually due to the leaf blister mite. This is not an insect but a small animal, invisible to the unaided eye, which attacks standard varieties of pear and apple trees and often inflicts serious damage. Where trees are seriously infested, the premature fall of both fruit and leaves may result. In such cases a special application of lime sulphur wash or other spray may be necessary. Ordinarily, however, the regular orchard spraying is sufficient to control the mite. Badly infested branches of the pear trees may be cut off and burned. Care should be taken not to confuse the work of the mite with the leaf spot disease or the results of heavy spraying.

Describing the leaf blister mite, showing how it may be recognized, and giving methods of its control, the department has issued a new Farmer's Bulletin No. 722, "The Leaf Blister Mite of Pear and Apple," by A. L. Quaintance. The leaf blister mite passes the winter beneath the bud scales. There it waits for the opening of the buds and attacks the young leaves as soon as they push out in the spring. The tiny animals bore small holes from the under side of the leaves into the interior, where they lay their eggs. This causes the small, pimple like scales on the upper surface of the leaves. The spots later increase in size, sometimes to one eighth of an inch, and on the pear tree are red and often brilliantly colored as they grow. In the case of the apple the eruptions lack the more brilliant coloring and are found more along the margin of the leaf. In both cases the spots finally turn brown or black, and if the pest is abundant the leaves become ruptured and wrinkled.

More than 250 varieties of apples are attacked by the mite, injury being especially severe on some well known commercial sorts, such as the Ben Davis, the King, Baldwin, Rhode Island Greening, and the Williams favorite.

Where orchards are seriously infested as has been noted in New York State, lime sulphur washes give excellent results. They avoid the injurious effects upon fruit buds which sometimes results from the use of oil sprays. The wash should be applied thoroughly, coating the twigs and branches.

A standard solution of kerosene emulsion may also be used. The stock solution should be diluted with five parts of water for spraying purposes. One application should be given in the late fall, as soon as most of the leaves have fallen, and another in the following spring, before the trees put out foliage. If it is possible to give only one treatment, the sprays should be used in the fall. At this time many of the mites have not yet gone to the bud scales, but occur in the down covering the young wood and hence are more easily killed.

Misnamed Fruit Trees

We have recently had a number of inquiries as to what redness may be had when fruit trees prove to be untrue to name.

This is one of the most discouraging features of the orchard business but happily, when trees are purchased from reliable nurserymen, it is much less likely to happen than formerly. We do not claim to be an authority on legal matters and if we were we could give little advice without knowing all the facts in the case. As a rule, however, nurserymen protect themselves by a clause in their order blank or contract which absolves them from any liability for damages beyond the replacing of trees proving untrue to name. This amounts to almost nothing compared with the loss which may result to the orchardist when the varieties are not true to name and are inferior to the ones ordered or are less well adapted to the soil or locality.

There has recently been handed down by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of New York State a decision in which the plaintiff has been awarded damages supposedly equivalent to the difference between the value of the trees as they now stand and what would have been their value had they been of the varieties ordered—in this case about $700. We understand that there was no clause in the contract limiting the liability of the nurserymen to the purchase price of the trees.

Currant Worms

Currant worms are easily controlled if taken in time. The reason for the usual difficulty in controlling them is that they are not discovered until they have been working for some time and have attained nearly full size, when they are hard to kill. The method of control is to spray the bushes thoroughly with arsenate of lead and water during the first warm days in May being careful to see that all the lower branches are covered with the poison, as this is where the young worms begin to work. Repeat the spray in about two weeks and again in one week if necessary. If spraying has been neglected and the worms appear about picking time dust the leaves thoroughly with fresh white hellebore. This will lose its strength after a few hours exposure to the air and will not poison those who eat the fruit.

It's easier to induce two heart to beat as one than to induce two mouths to eat that way.

Jeffrey Picnic

Owners of Jeffrey cars from about Grand Detour, their families and friends—sixty all told—occupied quite a space in Highland Park, Rockford, Sunday, while at the instigation of W. I. Palmer and Jerome Cox, Jeffrey agents, they did go on a picnic.

Nine o'clock in the morning the Jeffrey clan gathered at Oregon and started on the pleasant trip to Rockford, bowling over the good roads, with only now and then a dirty streak—without a single mishap. Arrived at Rockford they became the guests of Mr. Joslyn, owner of the Joslyn garage and a big Jeffrey man. Mr. Joslyn left nothing for his guests to desire and every minute of their stay in Rockford was made delightful through his thoughtful hospitality.

Talk about your monopolies! It is hard to believe that any other picnic could have had any chicken, to view the immense platters of the toothsome fried morsels that graced the picnic table. And other good things were equally in evidence, so that, just to look at the table, as one of the picnicers expressed it, constantly increased one's appetite. To make the feast everything it should be on a warm day such as Sunday. Mr. Joslyn had ordered to the pots gallons of ice cream and lemonade. A vote of thanks was extended at the close of the dinner to Mr. Joslyn for his kind hospitality.

During the afternoon Rockford's beauty spots were visited, the sight-seeing and trip home being a delightful day.

COLONEL BRINTON'S CANDIDACY.

On the front page of this issue of the Evening Telegraph Colonel Brinton announces himself as a candidate for the democratic nomination for Governor of Illinois. The Peoria Journal will also announce Col. Brinton's candidacy this evening. The Peoria Journal is edited by Hon. H. M. Pindell, one of the distinguished democrats of the state, and the Telegraph is Col. Brinton's home town paper.

The Evening Telegraph is not a supporter of the democratic party, as its readers well know, and it does not favor a continuance of the democratic administration in this state and nation, but if the voters of Illinois should decide to continue the democratic party in power in this state, we should say that Col. Brinton is by far the most desirable candidate on that ticket to guide such an administration. It is fitting that the Evening Telegraph should announce to the democrats of Illinois, the entrance of Col. Brinton into the gubernatorial race, for Col. Brinton has been a resident in Dixon for many years and has been in the social, business and political life of this city during that time. He has been in positions where his character and his ability have been in the public eye and subjected to the closest scrutiny during that period. As Mayor of Dixon for four years, the first under the commission form of government, he had an opportunity to do much good or much harm to the city, according to the measure of his ability. He "panned out" as the BEST MAYOR DIXON EVER HAD and made a record for occupants of that office to strive for years to come. As President of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce he has done great things for his city and his fellow citizens. The details of the achievements of Col. Brinton since his residence in Dixon are long and cannot be recounted here, but he who really wishes to know the sort of man the Dixon manufacturer is should come to Dixon, talk with the people who have lived with him and enjoyed knowing him, and be shown the results of Col. Brinton's public spirited actions.

Col. Brinton's platform, published in the Telegraph this evening, is brief and to the point. He knows what he wants to say and it does not take the Colonel long to say it. And furthermore, when he makes a promise, he keeps it.

Colonel Brinton is not in sympathy with the way the governmental affairs of this state have been handled during the past term. His business training and his political principles commend him to the voters of the democratic party. He is a conscientious, enthusiastic and loyal democrat, a cool headed, thoroughly efficient, successful business man, a true American and a brainy statesman. His nomination by the democrats of Illinois would add untold strength to that ticket, both national and state.

ARBITRATION AND MEXICO.

Carranza would have the world think he is bravely standing between a Mexico which looks upon him as a savior and an on-rushing Uncle Sam, bent upon oppression and annexation. If there is a war he would have the world think it has been such a purpose on the part of the United States that has produced the crisis. Such a premise might offer a basis for "arbitration."

But the truth is that the crisis comes after four years of continuous disorder, bloodshed and anarchy which has been a blot on civilization; it comes as a result of Mexican misrule for which our own meddling is unfortunately partly responsible, which has produced ten Mexican "presidents" in less than five years; that it comes because foreign lives and property have been destroyed after lawlessness and murder; that it comes after murderous depredation on American soil involving ruthless brutality, looting, burning and killing; that it comes after Carranza has made no effective effort to remedy an intolerable situation; that it comes after two years of American indulgence, costing us a toll the American people (no longer too proud to fight) cannot continually accept with philosophical resignation.—Grand Rapids Herald.

FOR POLISH RELIEF.

President Wilson's direct appeal to the governments of European nations at war asking in the name of the American people for permission to relieve suffering Poland ought to gain its end or put the obstructing nation or nations in a position for which coming generations of its or their citizens will be apologetic.

The president's request is that the nations submit an agreement to enable the innocent Polish victims of war to be relieved without a contribution as the result of that relief to the military efficiency of any nation.

The British, French and Russians must allow the supplies to go thru. The Germans and Austrians must guarantee that the incoming supplies will not be directly or indirectly an addition to their own victualing. If they refuse the only sufferers are the Poles. If they agree the only gainers are the Poles. It seems the request does not permit refusal.—Chicago Tribune.

The Kaiser says Divine appointment keeps him from the trenches. We'd call it Divine providence.

Daddy's Bedtime

The Ugly
Story— Duckling Grows
And Grows.

[Adapted from Hans Christian Andersen]

"TELL us a ducky daddle story, please, daddy," asked Jack and Evelyn as soon as he came in after they had supper. So daddy took them on his knees and told them this: "When an ugly duckling saw some swans for the first time the strangest feeling he ever had came to him as he watched them mount the blue sky and leave for south lands. He circled around and around in the water like a wheel and craned his long neck up in the air to watch the swans grow small as they sailed away to happiness. Then he gave a shriek so loud and strange that it frightened even himself. Oh, he just couldn't forget those beautiful birds! When they were out of sight he ducked right down to the bottom of the water, and when he came up again he was miserably unhappy."

"Why?" the children wanted to know.
"Because he loved them better than any birds he had ever seen and wanted to go with them," daddy explained. "He knew he could never be as beautiful as they were, but if only they would let him go with them! So all that dreary winter he was obliged to swim about in the cold water to keep from freezing, but at night the hole he swam in got smaller and smaller. Then it froze so hard that the surface ice cracked, and the poor duckling had to keep his feet moving all the time so the ice could not close in about him. At last he was so tired that he could not move any more. Then he was frozen into the ice."

"Poor ducky daddy!" cried Jack.
"Early one morning a peasant came along and saw him stuck fast there. So he crept out on the ice and hammered a hole in it with his heavy shoe and took the ugly duckling home to his wife. His wife put him next her stove, and soon he thawed out and held up his head to see where he was. The children wanted to play with him, but the duckling thought they were going to hurt him. So he rushed in his fright right into a pan of milk and tipped it over on the floor. The woman scolded and threw up her hands. This made the duckling spatter the milk into the butter cask and the meal tub. Just imagine how the kitchen looked by this time! Then the woman got her tongue and tried to strike the duckling, and the children tumbled over one another trying to catch the poor thing. By good luck the door happened to stand open, and the duckling flew out under the bushes and, still sick, lay there in the new snow."

"What a lot of trouble the poor ducky had!" cried Evelyn.
"Yes, but he was growing into a beautiful bird all the while," said daddy.

HOME RULE HITS
HUGE OBSTACLEIrish Autonomy Plan Wrecked
by Cabinet Split.

JOHN REDMOND REJECTS BILL

Measure Altered to Please Group Which Opposed Undiminished Irish Representation in British Parliament—New Plan at Variance from Early Agreement, Lloyd-George Admits.

London, July 25.—Confirming publicly the suspicion that the Cabinet had been unable to reach a decision in regard to the home rule amending bill, Premier Asquith in the house of commons announced that the government would not introduce any bill of this kind with regard to which there was no substantial agreement among all parties.

This was taken in the lobbies of Parliament to mean that home rule had been dropped for the moment and that David Lloyd-George's negotiations had come to naught.

The stumbling block appears to have been the retention in the imperial Parliament of nationalist representatives in undiminished numbers.

Redmond Is Cheered.

John Redmond, leader of the nationalists, asked amid nationalist cheers, whether the government had decided to depart from the terms of the agreement arrived at by the Irish party and based upon the proposals made by the Secretary of War, David Lloyd-George, whether the government had determined to insert in the bill new proposals at variance with the agreement without consulting the nationalists; and whether the Premier had received any intimation that a bill so framed would be vigorously opposed by the nationalists.

Premier Asquith, in reply, pointed out that the agreement was subject to the approval of, and revision by the cabinet. Two main points, he said, had emerged from the agreement and these had been accepted by both sections of the cabinet, unionists and home rulers.

Lloyd-George admitted that the new proposals were at variance with the agreement between himself, John Redmond and Sir Edward Carson.

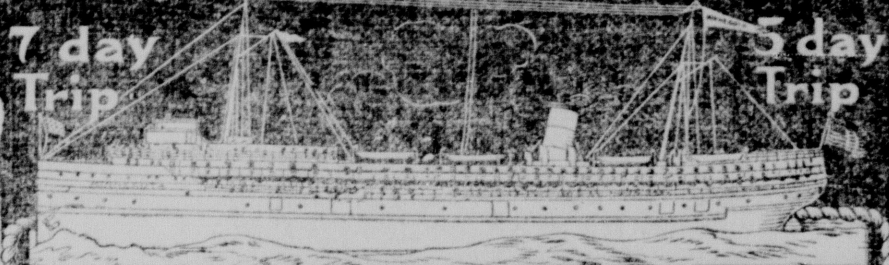

Prof. A. T. Scovill and wife were here from Sterling Monday visiting friends.

OBITUARY

EDWARD LAZIER, SR.

Funeral services were held over the body of Edward Lazier, Sr., who died at 8 o'clock Saturday night at his home in Rochelle of paralysis. He was the father of Dr. Harry Lazier of Dixon. The services were held at the home of Homer Cogswell and were conducted by Rev. D. N. Scott, pastor of the Presbyterian church. The five sons and son-in-law acted as the pallbearers.

Mr. Lazier was born July 16, 1844 and lived to celebrate his 72d birthday, at which time his daughter, Jennie, invited the family to her home to spend the day. He was united in marriage to Miss Ella Frances Litch at Oregon, Wis., Nov. 1, 1870. Six children were born to this union. Soon after their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Lazier removed to Madison, Wis., later moving to the Lazier farm about six miles northeast of Rochelle.

The Laziers retired from the farm in the fall of 1900, when they moved to Rochelle. Mrs. Lazier preceded her husband, her death occurring Feb. 24, 1913. The children, all of whom survive, are: Mrs. Homer Cogswell, Davis Junction; Edward Jr., who resides on the home farm; Arthur of Linwood; Harry of Dixon, and Curtis and Paul of Rochelle.

Apparently his forces have almost encircled the Teutonic commands of Generals Boehm-Ermolli and Bothmer, forcing their incontinent retirement. Russian troops now dominate both banks of the Lipa from the Styr to near Mirkow and in some parts of the line have thrust forward eight or ten miles beyond the river. BRITISH WIN NAVAL FIGHT, RAID FOILED

German Destroyers Chased Back to Their Base.

London, July 25.—Six German destroyers, attempting either a raid or a reconnaissance on the British coast, were put to flight by a British sea force in a running fight off Shouwen Bank Saturday night and early Sunday, an admiralty statement announced.

The German ships, it was said, were repeatedly hit. One British vessel was struck once, but the total British casualties were two wounded. The German destroyers succeeded in reaching a base on the Belgian coast.

Two of five German destroyers, presumably those engaged in the running sea fight off the Belgian coast Saturday night, returned to Zeebrugge with a decided list, according to Exchange Telegraph dispatches from The Hague.

The North Hinder lightship is located off the Belgian coast between Ostend and the mouth of the Scheldt River Shouwen Bank is in the same neighborhood. The action which the admiralty describes therefore, took place off the Belgian coast.

IDENTIFIES TRAGEDY VICTIMS

Man, Wife and Baby Found Dead Were from Flint, Mich.

Chicago, July 25.—The victims of Lake Forest's triple murder tragedy were identified as Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Archibald Crandell of Flint, Mich., and their baby boy, Arthur. The identification was made by the dead man's uncle, A. W. Crandall, dry goods merchant at 1003 West Forty-seventh street, Chicago.

The man apparently shot his wife and child and killed himself. His motive is a mystery. He was a time keeper at the plant of the Buick Auto mobile Company at Flint.

THREADWORMS

Parasites Infecting the Gullet of Sheep and Cattle Caused by Swallowing Insects

Sheep and cattle very frequently have threadworms in the gullet. These worms are seen in the lining of the gullet beneath the surface in a rather striking wavy pattern similar to that formed by a snake as it travels over a smooth surface. The worms are slender and threadlike, but as they measure from over an inch to 6 inches in length and raise up the surface of the lining of the gullet to form slender wavy ridges, they are readily located when an infested gullet is slit open and examined. So far as known, the damage occasioned by the presence of these parasites in sheep and cattle is rather slight, though it has been determined that a closely related parasite is intimately associated with it not the casual agent of cancer in the stomach of rats.

It has been shown by investigators and experiments in the Zoological division of the Bureau of Animal Industry that various species of dung beetles are the source from which sheep and cattle become infested with the gullet worm. These dung beetles may be found in almost any manure deposit, except during the winter in cold climates. The beetles usually crawl under the manure deposit, enter from the bottom, and feed on the inner portion of the deposit as long as it remains moist. When the beetles eat the manure they swallow the gullet worm eggs which have passed down the esophagus through the stomach and intestine and out in the manure of the infested sheep or cow. As soon as the manure becomes too dry and hard to work the dung beetles abandon it and crawl into the ground or fly to other and fresher deposits. In about a month the eggs which were eaten by the beetles have hatched and developed into an encysted stage in the body of the beetle, ready to continue their development when the infested beetle is swallowed by a cow or sheep.

The opportunity for sheep and cattle to swallow these beetles comes when the beetles fly from one manure deposit to another. The flight usually ends by the beetles landing on the pasture somewhere near a manure deposit, and as they crawl about through the grass toward the manure, attracted by the odor, they are constantly swallowed by grazing animals. The beetles are no doubt eaten unconsciously as a rule, but as sheep and cattle eat large numbers of insects, since practically every plant is the permanent home or temporary resting place of a number of insects, it is perhaps a matter of more or less indifference to them if they are conscious of the presence of insects in a mouthful of food. This is especially true of cattle, since cattle are noted for eating foreign objects, such as nails, wire, bolts, knives, rubbers, etc. Among the various kinds of insects picked up by sheep and cattle during the course of a day, dung beetles are likely to be more or less numerous, and of these some are likely to harbor larval stages of the gullet worm, now ready for the next step in development. In the digestive tract of the cow or sheep the beetles undergo partial digestion, releasing the larval worms, which make their way to the gullet and burrow into its lining. Here the worms become mature and in time the female deposits eggs which pass down the gullet and out in the manure to carry on the life cycle.

It was found that under experimental conditions the eggs of the gullet worm would develop to an infective larva in croton bugs as well as in dung beetles; but since croton bugs do not breed in manure and are house dwellers, it is evident that they do not play any part in the natural transmission of the parasite. It is interesting to note, however, that Danish scientists have found a worm, similar to the gullet worm of sheep and cattle which develops as a larva in croton bugs, cockroaches, and mealworm, and which occurs in nature in the gullet, mouth, tongue, and first portion of the stomach of rats. This worm is extremely interesting from the fact already mentioned that its development in the rat is followed by the appearance of cancer of the stomach, a fact of great importance from a scientific and medical standpoint.

While there is now a general recognition of the importance of biting insects as carriers of such diseases as malaria and yellow fever, and of such insects of the fly as carriers of the germs of typhoid fever and other bacterial diseases, the facts cited above show that insects have an importance not yet generally recognized as carriers of parasites. From such parasitic infection man himself is not immune. It has long been known that infestation with a certain kind of tapeworm only occurs as the result of eating the fleas or lice of dogs, and the list of cases of the occurrence of this tapeworm in man, and especially in children, indicates only too well that dog fleas and lice are swallowed by human beings not altogether rarely. In the case of sheep and cattle the swallowing of insects is practically unavoidable, but man can guard himself against swallowing dog fleas and lice and its rather unpleasant as well as dangerous consequences by observing greater care in his relations with pet animals, particularly by excluding them from his household, which is the only certain way of preventing the scattering of their external parasites in places from which children and even grown persons are liable to swallow them.

ALLIED AIRMAN IS OVER BERLIN

French Flier Traverses Length of Germany.

PROCLAMATIONS ARE DROPPED

Aviator Is Captured Just Before He Reaches Russian Lines—In Notes to Germans He Declares He Spares Women and Children—Captors at First Incredulous.

Paris, July 25.—Lieutenant Marchal of the French aviation corps last month left French soil and flew over the German capital, on which he dropped proclamations, and then continued his flight, intending to land within the Russian lines. He was forced to descend, however, in Poland, and was taken prisoner by the Germans.

The proclamations dropped by Lieutenant Marchal on Berlin stated that, though it was possible, the aviator refrained from bombarding the open town and "thus killing women and innocent children."

Lieutenant Marchal made a continuous flight of about 807 miles, most of which he traveled in darkness.

Describes Audacious Flight.

The official communication, given out telling of Aviator Marchal's achievement, said:

On June 20, at 9:30 o'clock in the evening, Sublieutenant Marchal ascended at Nancy on board a Nieuport monoplane of a special type, taking with him a supply of fuel sufficient to last fourteen hours. His mission was to cross Germany at a low altitude in order to drop proclamations on the capital, Berlin, and then to descend in Russia.

This audacious flight was accomplished point by point, and after flying all night Lieutenant Marchal was compelled to descend at 8:30 o'clock in the morning of June 21 near Chelm, Russian Poland, sixty-two miles from the Russian lines. He was made prisoner.

The proclamation which Lieutenant Marchal dropped on Berlin began with the words:

"We could bombard the open town of Berlin and thus kill the women and innocent children, but we are content to throw only the following proclamation," etc.

Lieutenant Marchal was interned at Salzberg, whence he forwarded to France a postal card giving these details:

"I was made prisoner at 8 o'clock on the morning of the 21st at Chelm. The Austrian officers did not believe that I had accomplished my task, but the proof later arrived and they were obliged to bow to the reality.

Forced to Change Spark Plugs.

"It was the failure of the spark plugs which stopped me, and I descended to change two of the plugs and to start the motor again. Unfortunately it would have been necessary to change two more plugs, and at this moment I was taken prisoner. You may judge my chagrin."

Aviator Marchal in the course of his journey covered the continuous flight a distance of about 1,300 kilometers (807 miles), most of which he traveled during the night.

Nancy lies on the French Alsace Lorraine frontier. Chelm is in Russian Poland, fifty miles north of the Austrian frontier.

British Extend Pozieres Front.

London, July 25.—Fighting in the battle of the Somme centered around the village of Pozieres, which was entered by the British Sunday in the renewed of their offensive. Smashing counterattacks by the Germans throughout the day failed to drive the Australian troops from the positions they had won, and the British forces added 151 captives to the number already taken in the ruins of the town.

South of the Somme the French captured a German battery near Ester-ees. A total of sixty German machine guns captured since July 20 is announced by the Paris war office.

New Assault Expected.

Continuation of the heavy British bombardment throughout the Picardy front, announced by General Haig indicates that a further infantry attack by the British is likely at any moment, but headquarters in France admits that the Germans are replying strongly to the fire of the big guns.

ROCHELLE

Rochelle, July 24—It took eleven meetings to decide which was the better team in a return game with Elgin at Athletic park, Sunday afternoon. Elgin winning 4 to 3. This is Elgin's second victory over Rochelle the Orioles dropping a game earlier in the season to the watch

Rochelle, July 24—The death of Edward Lazier, Sr., at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Homer Cogswell, residing near Davis Junction, at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, marks the passing of a kind father, a genial neighbor, and an estimable gentleman. Stricken with a paralytic stroke on Wednesday evening which paralyzed his right side and threw him into convulsions, he lingered only three days. One of the greatest measures of his declining days was the celebration of the 72d year of his birth, Sunday, July 16th, at which time his daughter invited her members of the family to her home.

The funeral services were held from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Homer Cogswell, at 2 o'clock this (Monday) afternoon, conducted by Rev. D. N. Scott, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Rochelle. Interment was made at Lawndale cemetery, the five sons assisted by Mr. Homer Cogswell, a son-in-law, acting as pall bearers.

Edward Lazier, Sr., was born July 16, 1844. On November 1, 1870, he was united in marriage to Miss Frances Litch, at Oregon, Wis. Mr. and Mrs. Lazier resided at Madison, Wis., until 1855. At this time they moved to the Lazier farm about six miles northeast of Rochelle. The Laziers retired from the farm in the fall of 1900, when they moved to Rochelle. Mrs. Lazier died February 24, 1913.

The deceased leaves six children, Mrs. Homer Cogswell, Davis Junction; Edward, Jr., who resides on the farm; Arthur of Lindenwood; Harry of Dixon; and Curtis and Paul L. of this city. Rochelle relatives include Attorney B. J. and Miss Edna Knight.

Since the death of his wife, Mr. Lazier has spent his time with his children. The latter days of his life were spent with his daughter, Jennie, whom he worshipped for her kindly ministrations.

POULTRY

A LARGE BUSINESS

The poultry business is supposed by many to be a small business—not worth serious thought of our well to do farmers. The fact is that we farmers have neglected our poultry shamefully. It is estimated that there are 2,000,000,000 dozens of eggs consumed in the United States, and if the average price per dozen paid were 15 cents we would have a grand total of $300,000,000. How much of this money are we getting? Are we getting our share or are we letting the others get it? What other branch or side line of farming will pay as much? The above figures are for eggs only. Our fowls that we sell to the markets would equal the above figures. Take our turkeys, geese and ducks and we are safe in saying that the income derived from same would be at least $500,000,000 per year. We see by the above figures that the poultry business is no small business. No person can give as a correct figure of what our poultry will bring in one year. Many will start in the poultry business this year only to meet disappointments. There are many ups and downs, especially in the poultry business. And right here is where the ones who are successful make money. If every one that took up poultry made a success of the venture our markets would soon be glutted.

The successful poultryman of today started in a small way. He could give his time to his small flock and study their wants, thereby soon mastered the business. Never start in the poultry business till you have the poultry houses built in the way they should be built. Always build them so as to admit plenty of fresh air and sunlight. See that no drafts can reach the fowls. Drafts will give the fowls colds and colds will develop into roup and roup will soon put your fowls under the sod. Keep your fowls healthy with plenty of fresh air and exercise and you will have no trouble in getting the desired eggs, provided you are feeding for results.

More young chicks die each year from the ravages of lice than from all other causes put together. Provide a dust bath for your fowls and it will help you to keep down lice. Clean your houses at least twice a week. Disinfect once every day the drinking fountains and you should have little trouble in keeping your fowls in a healthy state.

The man who keeps pure bred fowls will find a certain demand for eggs for hatching, and cockerels will be wanted by many just starting in the poultry business. A good thing to do to sell your surplus stock. Don't try to raise fine poultry and lice at the same time, for it cannot be done. Decide first which it will be, then go ahead.

KEEPING THE YARDS FRESH

Where the poultry flock is confined to small yards on farms, the usual plan is to make a very narrow grave for entrance so the fowls will not escape when the attendant enters or departs.

While this arrangement may save a little trouble in that regard, it does not provide any way to get a horse and plow inside fence, to turn over the ground frequently.

If the flock is confined to small range the soil will foul quickly, and the best way to sweeten it is by turning over and raising quick growing crops.

A 4 foot gate will permit of passage for one horse attached to small plow or other cultivating instrument, and the ground will get stirred oftener than if the work has to be done with a hand fork. Two poultry yards are desirable, one being used while green crops are getting a start in the other. The flock may be transferred to new pasture when the foliage gets 2 or 3 inches growth.

Oats, rape and rye make desirable forage crops for the poultry.

Old Fashioned Beauties in Flowers

Those who decide to grow old fashioned flowers should not attempt too many kinds, but rather have a chosen few. Nor should they hesitate to grow a quantity of the kinds selected, as exchanges may be readily made with neighbors. Perennials should be planted abundantly, as they will spread and practically take care of themselves.

A few old favorites include: Single and double hollyhocks, larkspurs, lupins, Canterbury bells, foxgloves sweet William, columbine, hardy phlox, anemones, iris, gypsophila, baby's breath, polyanthus, clove scented pinks, lilies, sea lavender, lathyrus or hardy pea, valerian, wallflowers, violas, tulips, hyacinths, daffodils, lily of the valley, rosemary, lavender and ferns.

Applying Poultry Manure

Poultry manure is recognized as the richest animal made fertilizer obtainable, and sometimes the problem of properly applying it to growing crops deters owners from its use. A gardener in New York takes a tub or half barrel and fills it full of the manure, using water to soak out the elements of fertility. The liquid fertilizer is poured around the roots of those plants which need forcing, being put on at night so evaporation will not be encouraged by the sunlight. The results have been very encouraging.

BRITAIN REPLIES ON MAIL

Answer to U. S. Protest Silent on Point of Legality.

Washington, July 25.—Basing her preliminary reply to America's protest against mail seizure on eight specific cases cited in the American note, England in a memorandum made public, asserts that the inconveniences are due to a faulty system that has been corrected. She cannot assume responsibility for occurrences complained of until she has investigated them in detail, the memorandum says.

American contentions that the practice of mail seizures is illegal is ignored as is also the position of the United States that, even if there is no appreciable delay, illegal seizures may place England in possession of information to which she has no right. The reply does say, however, that the principles involved will be taken up at a later day.

$14,160,000,000 IS BRITAIN'S WAR COST

New Credit Asked By Asquith Largest Yet.

London, July 25.—Premier Asquith asked the house of commons for a vote of credit of £450,000,000. This vote is the largest asked by the Government since the beginning of the war, and will bring the total voted this year to £1,050,000,000, and the total since the beginning of the war to £2,832,000,000 (approximately $14,160,000,000).

In moving the vote of credit the premier said the recent expenditure out of the vote of credit was approximately £5,000,000 daily. The £6,000,000 daily referred to by Reginald McKenna, the chancellor of the exchequer, represented all the outgoing, the premier said. All the expenditure from April 1 to last Saturday was £559,000,000.

Mr. Asquith said that the navy, army and munitions cost £379,000,000, the loans of Great Britain's allies £157,000,000 and food, supplies, railways, etc., £23,000,000. The average daily expenditure on the war, he said was £4,350,000.

The premier said he hoped the expenditure for the army and navy would not exceed the present level in the near future. The munitions cost remained stationary at the highest level yet reached, he added, and might increase.

THOUSANDS HONOR RILEY

Poet's Body Lies in State at Indiana Capitol.

Indianapolis, July 25.—The body of James Whitcomb Riley lay in state beneath the Indiana capitol dome between 3 and 9 o'clock Monday evening. A plea for this tribute to the distinguished poet was sent to Henry Etrel, his brother-in-law, by Governor Ralston. The family, realizing that Mr. Riley was universally beloved, granted the request.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon, under an escort of a platoon of police, the body was borne to the statehouse from the home in Lockport street. There surrounded by the old Glory he loved and glorified, the poet's face was exposed to the view of sorrowing thousands who came to Indianapolis from all parts of Indiana.

Peace Declared

Nobody ever called on strangers in Wildlands, least of all Mrs. McChonochie, who was the prettiest woman in the suburb and in some ways the most prominent. She had her friends among the "landed gentry," which term the newly arrived Mrs. Marshall applied to those country-city people who owned the states and whose automobiles waited at the railway stations.

So when Marshall came home one night and said that he had rented the Dernberg bungalow next to the McChonochies', Mrs. Marshall burst out with the news she was primed with.

"I never can be happy over there in the world," she said. "I encountered that Mrs. McChonochie at the 10:35 train this morning, and she sat in the station an hour and never looked at me."

"An hour? What happened to get you to the train an hour ahead of time?"

"The train was late because the engine broke down," continued Mrs. Marshall, "and I had just arrived when I saw Mrs. McChonochie coming over the hill with her sister. They came in and never glanced in my direction. To make matters worse, it was only a few weeks ago that I asked her sister a question about the train. So I was all ready to recognize her, but she just gave me one look and went on talking."

"Gave you the once-over, did she?" said Marshall.

"Yes, and after that they didn't either of them see me, and pretty soon the sister got up and went home again. Then Mrs. McChonochie went out and walked up and down at one end of the platform and so I went and paced back and forth on the other. I wasn't going to let her have a chance to snub me again, so every time we were headed in the same direction and I was behind her, I would watch and wheel at the proper moment, so she would always see my back when she turned around. Then I would wait to turn about until I thought that she must have started in the opposite direction again."

"But pretty soon she found a way to get the best of it. She went over to that little space beyond the station, where nobody ever goes, and paraded up and down there. After that I stayed farther away at my end until it got so bitterly cold that I had to go in, and there she sat pretending to read the newspaper. I held my head high and stood at the stove with my back to her. Fortunately the train came soon, and as I managed to get to the door first I just sailed by her."

It was not long after that Mrs. Marshall stepped off the 5:17 from town one night and saw her enemy emerge from the rear coach with her husband. Even at that distance she could see that the eye of the tall athletic McChonochie was regarding her, and she was sure that Mrs. McChonochie was telling him all about it, just as Mrs. Marshall had told her own husband. However, by this time she was stoical about it, as the Marshalls had made up their minds to take the bungalow, anyway.

When next she was tempted into the city the weather turned into a blizzard before Mrs. Marshall boarded her train for home. All thru the long ride the snow blew thicker and faster on the outside, while the train was gradually thinned of its heavy burden on the inside. When a scant half dozen people were left, Mrs. Marshall suddenly heard words spoken behind her in a peculiar contralto voice which made her turn her head with quick attention.

She had never consciously heard the voice before, but she recognized it as that of the opposition. Sure enough, as the train slowed down at Wildlands, the stalwart McChonochie passed down the aisle, followed by his better half. Mrs. Marshall gave them time to pass ahead of her as she gathered up her bundles. Then she stepped off into the storm that was raging with sufficient violence to send everybody hurrying into the general store and post office.

Thus it happened that somebody held the door open for Mrs. Marshall before it had fairly closed upon McChonochie, who was as boisterous as he was stalwart, and as loud voiced as he appeared to be well intentioned and sure of himself. It was due to this fact that his voice carried back to Mrs. Marshall and made the last snatch of his talk audible as she entered.

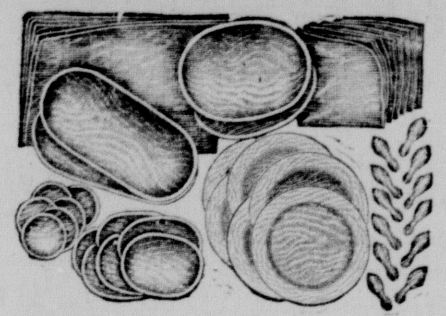

"Try a few kind words, eh?" he said glancing back with a smile, and as if to match his words Mrs. McChonochie stood unrolling a long sweater, which she had evidently cached at the store as she came by there in the morning. She held this out with both hands now, and faced Mrs. Marshall directly.

"You have so much farther to go than I do, won't you take this? It's been enough everywhere but the drifts are so much worse over your way."

"Oh, no, indeed! You will need it yourself. It's beautifully kind of you, but I wouldn't rob you for anything," said Mrs. Marshall trying to be as gracious as her enemy, but distinctly disturbed by the thought of how that person must have described her to McChonochie.

But if it were true, as she thought, that McChonochie now looked at her with an amused and twinkling eye, he soon showed what main strength could do to make cobwebs of feminine diplomacy. The drifts were mountain high as the little party started homeward, and if the paths were found at
